English People on the Continent.

I was once for a month at one of these German springs, where there was a little knot of English people with whom I spent my time. I had passed a score of vears in England then, and fallen, perhaps, into many English ways. At any rate I did just like these. They were people of position at home: a marchioness, the daughter of a duke, an earl and a countess, two married daughters of other carls, with their husbands, and all of that sort. They formed a little clique of their own; with their husbands, and all of that sort.

Considerable sensation has been created in medical circles in Vienna by the discovery of a supposed cure for consump tion and other tubercular affections of the lungs or other parts of the body. The overer is Dr. Kolischer, a young operator in the clinical department of Professor Albert, Dr. Kolischer, starting on the assumption that tuberculosis occasionally heals naturally, owing to the tubercles becoming calcined, hit upon the idea of causing artificial calcination by means of hypodermic injections of a compound described as "calcium phosphoricum" into the limbs of persons affected with local tubercolosis. He made a number of experiments with a view of testing his discovery, and in every case the experiments turned out successful. At the last meet-ing of the Vienna Society of Physicians Dr. Kolischer read a paper on the result of his experiments, and introduced to the meeting several persons who had been cured by his method. He is about to carry his experiments further by making similar experiments upon persons suffering from tuberculosis of the lungs. - London Chronicle.

new andustry in Sweden A new industry has lately sprung up in Sweden, and promises shortly to become a most important one. Oil for illuminating purposes is now manufactured in that country from the stumps and roots that remain in the forests after the timber has been cut. These have been subjected to a process of dry distillation, and besides wood oil many other products are ob-tained, amongst them turpentine, creo-sote, acetic acid, wood charcool, tar oils, etc. This oil cannot be used in ordinar lamps, as containing a large proportion of carbon it gives off a great deal of smoke during combustion. Up to a few weeks ago I con self the champion Dyspeptic of America During the years that I have beer afficted I have tried almost everything claimed to be a specific for Dyspepsia in the hope of finding something that would afford permunent relief. I had about made up my mind to abandon all medicines when I noticed an endorsement of Simmons Liver Regulator by a prominent Geor-gian, a jurist whom I knew, and concluded to try its effects in my case. I have used but two bottles, and am satisfied that I have struck the right thing at last. I felt its beneficial effects almost immediately Unlike all other preparations of a similar kind, no special instructions are required as to what one shall or shall not eat. and consequently incurshle. It is impossible to describe her sufferings. Her body from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet was a mass of decay, wasses of fiesh rotting off and leaving great cavities. Her fingers festered and three or four nais dropped off at one time. Her limbe contracted by the fearful niceration, and for several years she did not leave her bed. Her weight was reduced from 125 to 60 lbs. Perhaps some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of Cosmoline or ontment were used per week in dressing her sores. Finally the physicians acknowledged their defeat by this Black Wolf, and commended the sufferer to her all-wise Creator.
